

Some of you have submitted project2, and here are some common mistakes:

1. References: do not put a link to library search results page for a book/article. Put a link to the actual book/paper if it is available online. Ofcourse, if the book/article is not online, you do not have to put a link.

Some of you have reference pages that list books/articles correctly with all the bibliography, but none of them are available online. Make sure that some of your references are online and put links to them.

Search online for how to reference articles/books/webpages.

2. Referencing library articles: You can put references to library articles/books, even though they are accessible only to UCSC students. Donot put links to articles on other websites that require the TAs to have an account on those websites.
3. last modified date: Last modified date is required so the TAs know that you have not changed your webpage after the submission date, March 12th.

Some of you have not added it. And some have hardcoded it, ie, you wrote it down yourself. This is not correct.

Either use a script (like the one that Debasree sent to the newsgroup) or if you are using an editor, insert date using your editor's options. "And make sure that the last update date gets updated whenever you save your page."

DONOT CHANGE YOUR WEBPAGES AFTER MARCH 12th.
